Mad IvanDont forget, that not everyone thinks that way .
My personal oppinion is that Reborn is better, but thats because i never liked the Red Alert Series...seems too...strange for me.

That's an odd way of judging a game modification based on two separate games.

Renegade Alert should be judged by its quality and content, not by "well it's Red Alert so that means TS roxxorz it," Reborn's inferior in every department and that's why almost no players use it, and why almost no one visits their forum or website.

Personally, I found that people respond to you, and what you're doing, when you let them think that their opinion actually matters. Making people happy with what you are doing is the most important part, otherwise no one wants to play it or be associated with it.

It's no wonder Reborn failed.
