Posted by Crimson on Thu, 29 Jul 2004 07:38:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

mahkrasw33t<src="http://www.cannis.net/commando/heyyou1.mp3" loop="1">

It isn't working!!
Apparently Crimson installed ANOTHER word filter after I posted. The * was originally bg'sound (without the ') -- My post originally only had a single asterisk before bg'sound (again, no '). The filter turned it into 5 asterisks.

I dunno why she thinks that's necessary though... If I were running a site and I didn't want people to insert background sounds in their posts, I'd let them do what they want and then just ban them for breaking the rules. I think setting up barriers all over the place so it's not even possible for us to break the rules is pretty fucking lame. Maybe she has to do that because she doesn't have the balls to ban people...

But hey, that's just me. It's her site, so I guess she can do what she wants with it.

Hmm... that's interesting logic. I would rather block the problem because the forum isn't supposed to allow that HTML tag in the first place rather than make people suffer with idiotic music playing in a thread until I find it or it's reported to me.