spoonyratThis'd make sense if, every time I entered into a debate with yourself, you didn't blatantly lie to try to validate a point... :rolleyes:
I can only remember one time that you even accused me of lying. And I still contend that I sent all-chat messages and pages. Just because you didn't notice the messages I sent, that doesn't mean I never sent them.

In other news, you guys can all go have a party now, because I'm walking out the door in 5 minutes and probably won't be back until mid-October.
