I think that's a pretty good idea, but with all the other expansions on the original game (IE increased polygon counts, larger textures), I'm starting to get a bit worried about performance of the game. I've already heard a lot of people say that their computers perform worse in Renalert than they do in renegade.