killakanzSir PhoenixxkillakanzEver seen me announcing something in the mod forum? I only ask for help/give help there, that's what I see it's for.

The mod forum is for all things that have to do with modding.

killakanzEver seen me announcing something in the mod forum?

Just because you haven't made/finished/etc. anything good enough to be displayed/released in the mod forums doesn't make showing off/releasing mods in the mod forum wrong.

Well, look who needed to wave his claws

Well, look who can't comprehend the point that is trying to be made. :rolleyes:

Lol... You say the dumbest things and you get surprised when someone replies to them. :rolleyes:

killakanzAircraftkillerVegito, killakanz, you're both morons.

And so are you, but I'm not in the habit of letting that be known everywhere I turn.

In that original post I happened to mention that ACK had posted a few threads that I was protesting to. Everyone here then jumped to the assumption I was on a vendetta against him and flame my ass off.

And you guys wonder why people leave this community? They can't even open their mouths these days without someone biting their heads off.

You said posting about one's mod, or about the release of one's mod was against what the Mod Forum is for. You said it was only for asking help. When in fact it is for everything that has to do with Renegade modding.

Damn, if you wouldn't open your mouth and say really moronic stuff we wouldn't be "flaming your ass off" right now. :rolleyes:

Most of the people that join these forums are or at least appear to not be morons, it's just the select few that are morons and say the dumbest, most moronic things (For example: You) that get their "heads bitten off" occasionally.
