After having played many games on large servers (some using half-RG and others not using it at all) only to see cheaters run rampant while the innocent are kicked, I have decided to create this short video to help educate moderators.

It seems many moderators do not know what to look for in a cheater and/or often base their banning decisions off of popular opinion, which is often completely wrong.

The video shows the most common cheat being used in large servers today. I found it at an undisclosed website. It has since been deleted from my hard drive.

Keep in mind I have never cheated previous to this occasion (except for immediately before downloading the hack in a private server to test its functionality etc.) and the only reason I used it in the first place was to create this video, with the purpose of educating other legitimate Renegade players and moderators.

I am using a new nickname to keep my identity secret (though an admin could easily match my ip with my usual sn, it is my hope they will understand my intention and not take action against me).

Anyways, here is the video for those of you interested.

Note: Please feel free to post this video on server forums (Pits, St0rm, non00bs, etc.) for moderators and players to see. The more people know about cheating the easier it is to stop it.
