SickOptometristcowmisfitIf you posted this in about 2 months i may be able to post my real ride.

Hang in man - when I was 15, cars changed EVERYTHING for me. Not necessarily good or bad, it's just that all my current interests went by the wayside. I grew up in Myrtle Beach, SC & "cruising the 'vard" is what we did. I worked in high school just to burn gas...

lols Im 16, im getting my license in two months

Ya i know its gonna be awesome, i'll be able to go places and do what i want with out my parents having to take me, it won't depend onthere being able to give me a ride or not anymore. Plus i'll be able to go out and skate all the spots i've ever seen and wished i could while driving by them in the car
