I tried this BF2 demo and it works fine on lowest settings, but if i turn the settings higher my FPS rate drops very fast probably because i don't have the latest update for my drivers.

So i tried installing the newest drivers(update for existing ones) that come with the demo, but before installing i get a warning that the driver update didn't went trough the "Windows logo test", a test that checks if the hardware or software works on windows (i have windows XP, sp2).

I am no expert here but since many of you probably got the game i thought to just ask here. Is it safe to update my drivers like this?
