@ Adam - I didn't think so.

It's a good game and all but i guess it does get a lil boring after playing it too long. I think i got my copy back in like 2003. I've never actually done server sided but I'm prolly gonna try it tommorow. Who knows, i may end up making something fun. I've made a few maps (I'm just a begginer mapper) my terrain may not look that good but i actually do make a few cool bot things. I got some cool ideas from this awesome mapper. For example how to trigger a bot drop (like a chinook dropping off a tank or soldiers) when stepping in a zone. But I'm curious as to whether that may crash other people who may be playing if i put it in server sided. Who knows. Expermentation is usually fun though.
