Well, then you are a closed minded fool. Battlefield is a great game. My average ping ingame is 40-80, my FPS is 30-60, and I find the graphics quite adequate for a game as detailed and thorough as that.

Planes are quite easy to fly, if you know how to fucking fly them. If all else fails you, use a fucking joystick. Vehicles in general are really easy to drive. It's more accurate to what it's like in real life when you hit a bump or divet in a road. If you didn't want realism, then you did waste your money.

Renegade is quite inferior in the realism factor that BF1942 has. If you like that, thats cool, but that doesn't make BF a bad game.
