If you guys read what he posted at all, you'd notice that he isn't looking for a video card, but a fan for it.

It's tough to say anything about fans, it's often try and trial. What you can do is read reviews of them and see what others think. The AC is great stuff, you can use it. Make sure the GPU fan fits your card though. Some graphics cards use thermal pads instead which are thicker than grease...so make sure you know it's compatible.
