The question is not what you personally believe, it's that ID isn't science and shouldn't be taught in science class. They don't say at church "some people think there is no god", and explain that, and if they do it's to say these sinners will go to hell. I like how Christians are suddenly the victims...like 2000 years of religious persecution by them isn't enough? You offend people and you don't even know it. When I sneeze and you say God bless you I get pissed. How would you like it if you sneezed and I said there is no God? Most Christians are tolerable but some just piss me off so much.

Tolerant means that I don't persecute you or try to convert you like most religions do. The extremists people who follow Christ have done a lot to ruin the name Christian. Why the hell shouldn't we hate those extremists who do evil things? I am fine with you worshipping God as long as you don't force it on me, even if you don't know it. And if you do I will call you out on it.

Religion conclusions based on faith, science is conclusions based on observations.
