Subject: Re: same old...
Posted by Kytten9 on Mon, 31 Oct 2005 16:30:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

DawGY wrote on Mon, 31 October 2005 08:48Kytten9 wrote on Mon, 31 October 2005 06:39BHS never claimed RG was perfectly infallible, they just said it is an improvement!

an improvement my arse, it just takes up sapce, people can still cheat with RG on, and thats when the mods will usually say (about 75% of the time) o, he/she has renguard, he/she dont cheat. and that totally is stupid, what happened to the good ol' times, when some1 thought a cheater was there, and a moderator, admin, or halfmod made it their duty to see if he/she was cheating? those were the good days.

And the only way for sure that you know your statement to be true (i.e those people who are better than you are cheating with RG on) Is if you are that person you claim to bitching about, In which case you should be banned too!

It IS an improvement. It takes up very little space, it doesn't use more than 10th the amount of memory that ren itself uses when running, so for that number to make a significant difference in the first place.....your computer sucks. Because my pc stinks, but I still get excellent performance using Ren and RG at the same time as well as TS, mIRC and MSN (sometimes media player).

!forcerg is useful for people to kick a cheater in game when no moderators are around. so like I said, an improvement, because that player isn't banned, they can always play there again, just use RG. You won't argue out of that, there is no harm in downloading RG and using it...apart to your EGO....just make sure it is from the official Renguard website....any following posts that say they recieved a virus through d/loading RG (appart from the Norton issue which is currently being resolved) is full of shit!

Have a nice day