The memory on a video card barely matters as much as the GPU itself. The Geforce 6800GT is FAAAAAAR greater than the Geforce FX5500. The FX5500 is what people call a budget card. It's cheap and runs half-decent, but not that good at all. I have a Geforce 6800 128MB (not GT) and it's a million times better than my last card (a Geforce FX5600 256MB).
