Subject: Rigged software performance for Nvidia or ATI?

I feel this is an interesting subject: Do certain software developers rig the performance to be better for either Nvidia or ATI video cards?

For example: games that come little sheets "saying nvidia: the way it's meant to be played" such as in World of Warcraft and Battlefield 2.

What do you think about this? Will these games be rigged to run better with the video card they're promoting? Yes or No?

I personally think they do to a certain degree.
