
Subject: Re: Keyboard

Posted by mision08 on Tue, 21 Mar 2006 02:31:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You just need to install a GUI or keyboard applet or key-map program. Whatever you want to call it.

It will be under input devices at majorgeeks.com

I personally use one from HP 's web site, but I installed about 15 of them before I found one I like. I guess what I am using is an applet because it adds the "button" tab into my keyboard properties. Then I can change the address to whatever as you can see the photo key is actually a web address. The pictures next to the keys are propaganda I tell you.

File Attachments

1) KBD_Applet.JPG, downloaded 391 times

