
Subject: Crimson, Throw the bums out
Posted by Dogg on Tue, 27 Jun 2006 01:17:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear Crimson,

I'm writing on behalf of the community to ask you to kick people off renforums to leave it to people who care, and generally have time to devote to the well being of Renegade.

Crimson, what aren't you doing to better the forums or community? New moderators are existent(just like the current moderating staff), the mission of the forums is to tolerate idiots and their self centered ideas thinking they are perfect, like null's, and you are posting here fighting those idiots. Have you noticed that the administration here is closely paralleling the admin situation that existed in the Westwood Renforums in that lazy forum troll idiots think they are better than you because they have done...well nothing...but like John Kerry...they say they have ideas? Or are you here too much responding to those idiots to notice their true nonsense and wishes to make themselves seem better than you?

Take a moment and read the topics in your forums. Posts by people like Null lack any kind of direction/unity. This is because the interest in his nonsense is dying. Maybe so many communities would do as good if you supported the community in the caliber you do. This involves actually updating your projects, as you do, and personally notifying Null to see the last update from several days ago. When was the last time BHS made any critical or useful updates to the game? Besides well...shit...last weeks'...but that's besides the point...you clearly didn't notify null or myself directly in person with a certified letter to prevent him from looking like an ass when he claimed their wasn't one...so he must be right...screw internet postings of updates...those don't count...we aren't talking about the internet here...

Where were you when EA once again screwed null by choosing XWIS over your supposedly working WOL clone? Did you not care enough to convince Mike Verdu that n00bstories had the capacity and honesty to run WOL? Knowing that so many technically capable and motivated n00bstories members ,well at least null, would help you run it. How dare you not gun rush EA headquarters and DEMAND they bow to his demands...WE DEMAND THEY WORSHIP OUR DEMANDS!!!! CLEARLY YOU HAVE GOD POWERS AND YOU LET HIM DOWN!!!!

Right?!?!? Null said so...so you wre required to serve him further apparently!!!

Where were you when you had the chance to prevent nulls parents from reproducing for that matter...your real followers tried time and time again to help you, but you just discarded them?

You have the power, Crimson, not us. Kick these idiots, because you obviously can't represent null...at all. You care too much to keep maintaining nulls forums to meet his needs. Just throw him out, Christine.

-Dogg

Yes I have spare time on Monday nights...24 doesn't come back on till January 2007...bastards...
