I'm actually Christian too. I don't just say that, I do believe in God and love him, but when it comes to sin I actually would seem like anyone else who isn't a Christian probably. As you can see I swear about as much as any person on the internet, and lately (due to a lot of anger I've been dealing with recently) I've been using bad language outside of the internet too quite a lot. Also, I don't respect my parents all the time, and I disobey them sometimes. I also judge a lot of people the wrong way and set up a lot of grudges in my mind. I know that all of that is wrong, and yet I still do it just as much. I'm not perfect, but I'll get better as I get older. But the thing is, being a Christian isn't supposed to be like a religion where there are all these rules and schedules you NEED to follow or else you fail. Sure, Christians try to be as much like Jesus as possible, but it's not like they are these rules posted on a bulletin that you have to follow in order to be a Christian. I can't really explain it, because just about nobody here would understand me. and also I'm not the best Christian ever and I don't know that much at all. Most likely everybody would understand this totally incorrectly.

I don't know, I just felt like saying that. But this was kind of directed towards berkut and people who responded to him relating to this subject. sorry to bring "religion" into the thread; I can take this to PM if anyone wants.