HOW DARE YOU SUGGEST IT HAS NO ADS!

The league link has four unimposing slots for its sponsors (in the Renegade league's case, EA Games and I've offered one to XWIS) and an equally unimposing google ad banner which is specifically relating to gaming servers, teamspeaks, etc... thereby actually being of potential benefit to players.

Put together, they take up something like 5% of the league page. Troopr's right though - the fact that relevant advertisements you aren't forced to click take up an insignificant part of the page, is a VERY GOOD REASON to instead play on the auto ladder that averages one game every four months with no prizes and no admin to oversee it.
