Subject: MySql

Posted by jnz on Mon, 04 Dec 2006 02:07:10 GMT

im having a bit of a problem, my hoster doesn't supply MySql with php.
although i have never liked MySql i would of rather tryed it.
ok...the question...you already guessed it.

this is for a forum, i had an idea. make a folder only readable be admin, create a folder inside that for your forum name eg "General Discusion" inside that a new folder for topics and inside that txt files for posts.

but another way i though of was to use XML, create a file and use XML type syntax for lay it all out. then...encrypt the file with some made up althrigram. but this would be hard and time consuming...anyone have any other ideas (except, change hoster, that is out of the question).
help would be much appriciated.