
Subject: Re: GRRRRRRRRRRR

Posted by DarkKnight on Mon, 18 Dec 2006 23:50:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I see my thread has developed into something else.

I think everyone is leaving out an important fact. Why do blacks feel they need to have something handed to them? Why do they see the world still as racist, white against black? Why is crime so high in black neighborhoods? Is it cause their stupid? I don't believe this is the case. How can you have 2 blacks from the same neighborhood, same poverty, same everything turn out so different. Ones in jail while the other has "made it" in the real world. What's the difference?

I say its mindset. It's what you listen to. Have you ever heard you will become in five years like the ones you listen to today. Personally I think it's the black leadership in this country. If racism were to disappear off the planet tomorrow Jessie Jackson and others like him would be out of a job. They promote racism and promote the idea that blacks are held down.

Remember when Bill Cosby came out against the black leadership and was blaming them for the way blacks are today.

Check out this article:

http://www.townhall.com/columnists/LaShawnBarber/2006/10/02/corrupt_black_leadership_and_culture_of_failure_impede_black_progress

Here's a quote from it:

Poor blacks aren't poor because of white racism; they are caught up in a culture of failure, and the current crop of black leaders helps perpetuate the cycle.

I agree 100% with this article.
