Dude, look at the fucking FACTS.

And if you want to say that its part of their environment, then why the hell are they in that environment in the first place? Because they don't have a choice? If they're just as equal ... if they're just as intelligent ... if they're just as crime-prone then why are they in the situation that white people are not? I'll tell you why: because most of them don't put the right foot forward and make steps to pull themselves out of that lifestyle. They have the same rights and opportunity (if not more, as proven by the initiation of this thread) yet they find themselves in situations that many white people do not.

It is NOT because of their surroundings. People make up their surroundings through choices and they have had their chances to pull themselves out of their "slavery days". They just continue to pass down their poor work ethic, poor communication skills, illnesses, etc. and make the problem worse. Infecting others as they ignorantly refuse to improve themselves.

A.I.D.S. need I say more?
