I have recently moved and my Renguard stopped working. I was seriously confused and looked around this forum.

I found this thread and laughed when nopol10 said he has a Speedtouch 585. I moved into a new house and we have the same model of modem/router.

So I am guess in the same boat with you others as there seems to be no solution as of yet. I am going to roam through the router's settings and try to determine what is going on.
