the source is not public - im tryna get an installer for this online because at the moment after installing, you ahve to go though some looooong arse auto-update process lol - which sucks and no, the source is not available, however is a zip in the NR directory called Source.zip that contains the code needed to create your own plugins and customer commands