

---

Subject: Re: film shortener

Posted by Quackpunk on Fri, 10 Aug 2007 15:15:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

sadukar09 wrote on Thu, 09 August 2007 18:51The Merovingian wrote on Thu, 09 August 2007 18:41Recording anything that is copyrighted using your own tools for personal use is perfectly legal. Get your facts straight first.

You can use something like windows movie maker and cut out the ad's?

What if he is trying to distribute it? I know its legal to use it personally (though some politician is trying to make it illegal) if he is making it available to other people to download, then its illegal. im not tryin to sell the damn stuff im am just trying to save space on my zune player, because i recorded the tv movies with me windows media center tivo program, and it also recorded the commercials so i am just tryin to save some gigs

---