For those unaware of my pegging antics, me and a group of friends have been having wars for years over a game I invented called "Pegging". The idea of the game is to put a peg on somebody without them knowing.... then wait for them to find it and shout at you. Simple.

Some of my friends/parents/relatives etc have been known to turn up at the gym/supermarket/work and be told that they have a peg on their back.

My neighbour decided to take this one step further and peg my car. One day, I walked out of my door to find my car covered in pegs.

So, me and my mate took this one step further and got ultimate revenge......

http://www.invisiongamers.com/img/peg/Peg.html