Subject: Re: If you are not Muslim you should be raped and killed
Posted by Starbuzz on Fri, 04 Apr 2008 01:12:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What is all this pro-Muslim sympathy BULLSHIT in this thread?

Karandras wrote on Wed, 02 April 2008 03:32And these fanatics that kill IN THE NAME OF god are the ones that are making the rest of the Muslim religion look bad. Seriously, I know many a muslim person, and learnt their beliefs as I went searching for my religion, and I can tell you quite clearly that there is NOTHING of hatred like this in their Qur'an.

And by I mean they kill in the name of god, I mean that I can go out on the street and kill in the name of BlazerOx if I wanted to. Doesn't matter if he wants me to or not, I'm still killing in his name.

Again, just because one group of fricked up zealots are interviewed, don't believe that to be the stereotype of the entire religion, for IT IS NOT.

EDIT: Also, FOX media is told to cover all the fanatics, and zealots, and crazy fools, to make ALL muslims look bad. Now really, why should you trust the media that is run by the government?

Control the media, control the mind. Think about that.

Hell with you sympathizer and appeaser. You can't even be a half-decent liar.

Frankly, let me break it to you: the old bullshit "stop sterotyping religion" is no longer a valid argument. In fact, that excuse is void since mid 2003 at least in regards to Islam.

Yet, you make such claims while COMPLETELY ignoring several crucial variables that may turn you crap-logic upside down.

1. It is not wrong but it is merely unfair to call all members of said religion as "extremist" without proper justification.

2. Locations, history, and population data must be taken into serious consideration before making bullshit statements like "just because one group of fricked up zealots are interviewed..." garbage.

Having said so, let me ask you this: were any of your Muslim friends living IN the Middle East? Guess not. Or were they living happy lives in Australia? Guess so.

Let me tell you something: I have lived in a certain Middle East nation for seven years that is well-known for it's oppression of "infidel" religions. Seven years is plenty of first-hand experience and interaction with a volatile religion and it's believers none of the FUCKING media outlets could ever cover in a thousand years.

You see, I don't give a flying fuck about your Muslim friends living in prosperous 1st World nations just as I don't give a flying fuck about my Muslim friends who live here in the US. There is a massive educational and cultural divide that seperates the Muslims that live in prosperous countries and those living in backward nations which employ devious in-humane religious ploys to keep their citizens in a constant state of control.

This applies to anyone who claims Islam is a peaceful religion and that "most Muslims don't care" about what is currently going on in their native lands. Yes, they do care...all of them. And most of them are pretty pisst about it.

The simple truth is, you may have a friend here in the States or Europe or Australia, living and being your best friend and all that bullshit but you overlook an important thing: The majority of them are too busy enjoying the opportunities and dreams and hopes prosperous nations provide them with. Sure there are exceptions (the ungrateful immigrants who form shell copies of their previous societies in Western lands).

The lack of such opportunities in culturally-backward nations like those in the Middle East along with a seriously fucked up religious text to motivate the idle brain-washed masses creates the perfect formula for sprialling downward.

You seriously think it's only a couple of crazies? Very liberal shits like you are the ones who completely downplay the problem while the media on the other hand needs to do a lot of shit more to reach out with real news.

The unfortunate truth is that Jihad has permeated ALL levels of Muslim society today. Anyone carefully following the news (not from CNN, Fox, BBC crap) can realize that the wars in Afganistan and Iraq has created a dangerous perception in Islamic peoples that their society, culture, heritage, and most importantly their religion is under a full-fledged anti-Islamic attack from the West. And guess what? They are at a hightened awareness right now at the situation around them.

Muslim children, boys and girls, are being brainwashed by their parents and their local Mosque leaders with this concept of "macho Islam Jihad" in levels never before seen. Islamic media outlets are blazing out mind-control programs stating the global ambitions of Islam. Islam has a massive manpower advantage that will affect the war on terror. While idiots think all is fine, Islam already has 5 year olds ready to do Allah's bidding for the next 20-30 years.

And guess what? Terrorism will only grow. It has now become a local thing that every Muslim is giving more and more attention to. The distinction between Islamic terrorist and Islamic civilian is so razor thin in Middle East nations you have no idea just who the fuck any Islamic male could be. Defender? Resistance fighter? Allah's servant? "Concerned Muslim"? "The I don't give a shit" types? "I like Americans" types?

No matter who the person is, the fucking religion is providing a firm platform of unification. And it is becoming a cultural thing where pretty much anyone has the chance to participate.

The wars are providing a very nice opportunity for these murderes to kill for their Allah. And you don't have to be a suicide bomber or torturer to do Islam's dirty Jihad work. Just get a pail of water and hide out in the safehouse so when your brothers come home after killing Allah's enemies, you can quench their thirst after the battle.

The fatass Quran provides MANY instances to kill unbelievers. In fact there are 109 verses that specifically call for violence. And not just against non-Islamic "infidels" but also against other Muslims that that refuse to take a stand against the "enemy" whoever the hell that maybe.In NO WAY are there enough peaceful verses to balance out the hate.

In the Bible, the violent verses areways embedded within historical context i.e. within a story. In Islam, it is written distinctly seperately like the equivalent of the Ten Commandments. That is fucking far too dangerous and provides a huge chance to be taken literally...and this is exactly what the Muslims have done throughout their history.

Islam has a HISTORY OF VIOLENCE and bloodshed that appeasers will conveniently avoid to say. Muhammad was not like Jesus going to city after city healing people and talking the big talk. Muhammad sat on a camel with his sword and led men and destroyed villages, slaughtered the men, raped the women and gave them as gifts to his men, and too the children into captivity. This is a true account and I am not exaggerating anything. WHY DO THE FUCKING APPEASERS AND ISLAMIC SYMPATHIZERS OVERLOOK THIS CRUCIAL FACT? That bloody history continues today.

Muslims, driving by the Quran, tend to rely more on force rather than reason. There are centuries of history to back this up.

SO IN NO WAY IS THE WEST responsible for current Middle East problems (but definitely for poor management of the problem).

The root of the problem is their fucking religion that drives them. It all boils down to religion and THE FUCKING SHIT ROCK in Jerusalem.

And those who sympathize keep forgetting what started all this. Undeservingly, and without any provacation, the Muslims did this:
Toggle Spoiler9/11
And nikki says the West is to blame? BULLSHIT. BULLSHIT. You see, the false exaggerated concept of the colonization and territory-dividing is really not that bad compared to the centuries old inherited violence of Muslims.

And those who are still in doubt can get a book on the Cold War and start reading. Were all Russians during the Cold War bad? Hell no. Only their government, soldiers and many fanboy citizens. There were many Russians who would have rather lived in harmony with Westerners. But yet, any nuclear attack on any Russian city would have killed those same friendly Russians. But at such a global level of conflict with massive economic, military, political trends, it is simply IMPOSSIBLE AND IRRATIONAL to cut slack for neutrals and friendlies within the enemy ranks. It's not about any group but the survival of the human race as a whole. This is what should be understood with Islam though thank fuck the war is confined to a few Middle East nations only.

That's reality and it has been that way since the beginning of humanity. If you don't like it, then you can go to hell.

If you thought this post was too long, then GTFO of this subforum.