I must admit, the only reason I really use Firefox is because of the themes and addons. D:

That, and IE's security settings annoy the hell out of me, especially the "blah blah tried to download software to your computer", where in Firefox you can just press OK or cancel, but in IE you have to reload the entire page.

If a page doesn't load in one or the other, I just use the IE tab extension to embed IE into Firefox!
