

---

Subject: Re: LEGO: What CAN'T it build?

Posted by SlikRik on Wed, 28 May 2008 04:14:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Feetseek wrote on Tue, 27 May 2008 20:24Nukelt15 wrote on Tue, 27 May 2008 13:41Ah, the Renegade forums, where even a thread about Legos can turn into a flamewar in a single page of posting.

Serious business, kids. Serious business. Don't forget that.

So anything which serves no useful end is a worthless waste of time? Gee, I must be really fucked. Thanks for showing me the error of my video-gaming, rocket-launching, model-building, coin-collecting, book-reading, movie-watching, target-shooting, music-listening ways. I'll just lay down my frivolous pursuits and turn to a life of hard labor and poverty. I have seen the light!

...or maybe I'll post some random Lego links. Enjoy.

Mecha

Star Wars

Monty Python

A boat exploding

The boat that exploded was made of MegaBlocks, not Legos.

I've got that boat somewhere, and because it was Mega Bloks, I always wanted to creatively destroy it...

Edit: you can tell that the writer of the Star Wars ship article is one of those single nerdy internet adults who finds weird stories like this to write about for a living. How?

The use of the word "vajillion" to count the number of pieces. What's he got on his mind for this evening?

---