Subject: Re: Why do people hate big business?
Posted by nikki6ixx on Wed, 14 Jan 2009 02:54:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nero wrote on Tue, 13 January 2009 03:36Big companies most likely think:
"We have our name, we have our fame, we can release whatever we want for the price we ask, people will buy it."

Also, sometimes they even force their own creations into their releases. Microsoft inherits their own browser IE7 in Vista, they inherit Media Player etc. Though Winamp is proven to be better than WMP and Firefox is better than IE7.

That's like complaining to McDonalds that they don't serve Burger King... or buying a Sony TV, and expecting it to come with a Toshiba remote.

Nero wrote on Tue, 13 January 2009 03:36
They're just a big bunch of jackasses which are only out on MONEY.

HOLY SHIT! YOU JUST WON ECONOMICS 101!!!

Of course they're out to make money... you expect them to do all the work, and then just 'give' it to you? Would YOU hold a job if your employer demanded you work for free?