You're not helping your case by using your own language. You're on a forum that speaks English. If Spoony, or anyone else wanted to debate Islam on a Turkish speaking forum, they'd take the time to learn the language out of politeness.

Using your own langauge to defend yourself in a debate is rude, and it only cheapens your argument because we aren't entirely sure what you're saying is actually composed of real words, or contains any information that lends itself to the argument.

Plus, as someone who is speaking for the other side, resorting to sayings like 'stfu' , and your overall bitter attitude is not doing you any favours either.
