damn, that guy is full of horse shit.

Although it is true, that you actually can get sued if you provide his password on the internet, for example.

However, since we all break the terms on this website. I can understand that just banning these people is enough.

However, this thread deserves the hall of fame big time.

The lack of intellectual, proven by the thread starter shows me again why i actually dont have the time to play renegade.

It is impossible to find the actual clue.
