if we had a few genes from a few anlmals we could live for ever, like theres is one celled thing that can with stand 1000 times the leathal limmit of radieation and can reapir its DNA if we had the gene that let it repair its DNA then we would be canser free! also if there was a way to stop the cemical change when you get over the age of like 20 so that you dont age as fast, aslo in most planets the ability to regrow broken cells could be implibented into vital organs so if you have a heart attack the damiged part of your haert heals itself
