[NEFobby[GEN] wrote on Wed, 11 November 2009 13:49]That's completely and utterly unfair.

Both teams have lost 1 game, NE lost its game with SoQ which is clearly one of the best teams in this tournament (they're still in it.) Since then we've eliminated 2 teams from the tournament. You have NO RIGHT to eliminate a team on the basis of "I think the other one is better". NE and OS have played funwars in the past you know, and both teams have won and lost. The tournament game can literally go either way.

If you actually check the NE vs OS thread:
http://www.renegadeforums.com/index.php?t=msg&th=35033&start=0&rid=3 158

You will see that OS is being less than responsible in setting a deadline. It took 6 days for them to say "Sunday wasn't good for them" when it was decided the week before, and then they did not suggest a new date. Then we responded asking what was up, and they just said it was too late to organize a match for that week as well.

Today I was going to post another date for this Saturday just to get the match going, until I saw this thread.

We obviously can't post our rosters until a date is decided, which has not happened yet.

How about you actually set up a clanwar for this weekend for us rather than speculating on what team would hypothetically win. Either that or kick both teams out of the tournament. You can't have an imaginary winner.

I actually would like to give NE a chance to compete with Os. Both of you really need to do a better job of communicating with each other though and try and get this match done ASAP!