You're misunderstanding my position. I don't give a crap what other people do. It's what I do that I keep an eye on.

If I think it's unfair or "cheating" then I won't do it. That's just how I am. You won't see me in any of those crazy modded servers because of that fact. But you won't see me intervening with other people's ways of playing in such instances.

If you guys want to implement a global fix then fine, by all means. However if you decide to forget about the entire thing, that's fine too. It makes no difference to me either way because I'm going to play the game the same way either way.

face palm to the person who asks why I'm even involved in the conversation in the first place.
