I've been getting the same error from nod32, started happening about the same time that renforums got infected. It's blocked every time. So I don't really care about it, lol.

It's suddenly working again... i guess it will just be an off and on thing... I guess i can deal with it... judging by the fact it started around the time renforums got infected it makes sense really. Thx for help anyway good to know at least when it started.
