You're obviously not done if you keep making random pop-ups out of no where. As soon as Atomix sparked on something, you automatically join the Atomix IRC after what, 4-6 months other than talking about the website a few weeks ago.

Don't say that you're done. You still lurk around doing shit. Your more recent one was doing something with MVR and making an entirely new website.

You have had a bad history, especially the one with that retard who tried to duplicate All-Out-Hosting.
