FYI, I find some models attractive, but not overwhelmingly so. Looks alone don't do it for me. A few girls I know personally are more "attractive" than anything in this thread. Big breasts or a Hollywood face mean nothing to me. Eyes that you can see the universe in, a melting voice, and a weakening personality do. When you've felt that (be it full blown love or even anything of a lesser but same feeling), anyone else, even the most good looking girl, means next to nothing. jnz probably seems to know what I mean.

I mean... what? Chuck Norris is not in love with anyone!
