Subject: Re: Long Downtime Tonight
Posted by jonwil on Mon, 02 Aug 2010 08:46:43 GMT

The URLs in question are stored in the registry (they are put there by the setup program)

Assuming Olaf has permission from EA to redirect these URLs, there is no reason he couldn't release a simple registry file that changes the registry to point to the new URLs. As a matter of fact, "point the URLs at something that works" is something TT has had on its todo list for a while now.