
Subject: Re: is this guy full of bullshit or what lol
Posted by DRNG on Mon, 06 Sep 2010 01:31:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Starbuzz wrote on Sun, 05 September 2010 17:01: DRNG wrote on Sun, 05 September 2010 16:02: Would anyone really fall for this?

Right on top of my head I know 3 people on eBay I buy some games from (they are old ladies from another era) who would easily fall for it. Of course I am too nice to pull shit like this.

The fact this guy tried to do this tells me he has probably done it before and was successful at least once.

I can't think of why this guy would do this though. Maybe he wanted a physical copy of the game as well? That's a bit of a stretch.

I was very tempted to paste Homey's post and send it to him but lost the nerve.

@Omar: I will definitely post his name here. I tried to go through the reporting functions on eBay and looks like they don't have option to deal with these types of buggers. I definitely will send them an email though.

He can just download (Torrent?) a copy of the game, and use your legal cd-key to install it.
