The gray name "ghost" bug is even more of a pain in the ass tbh....it happens when a player direct connects to a server he is already in, while using the same nickname. He joins with a grey name after doing so, and other players who direct-connected cannot see his points, credits, kills, deaths, etc.

I think the gray name "ghost" bug is server dependent, because most servers will give you a "joining game..." screen and then time-out when you try to join with the same nickname twice.
