Sorry for the late reply, I had alot of work related things come up. I could not get the thing to update properly at all, so I went re-downloaded it and installed it after a clean install of Renegade. It only seemed to work if I restarted my PC after I install Renegade to install the scripts. If I do it all at once, it would not work, why it does that, I don't know. However I came across another problem, and I think this one is pretty mainstream to everyone right now, link is here:
