On several threads they've Derailed the topic, Spammed pictures, Flame baited members, harassed members, grammar corrected, and there has been no stop. This thread is a red herring about The Avengers and complies with the rules in the OFF topic forums, where it was started. It was obviously started to attempt to start a shitfest. Someone has move this topic to heated debates. Which it was not. Also posts have been deleted so the excuse of "maybe no mods were around" can not be used. Just a long time member guy who never posts after five years, but comes here to bring his friends to post on his behalf because he's butthurt and looking for some answers.

The butthurt, it's palpable.
