i'm gonna but in and note that if you have even half a brain, you setup teamviewer with both a Static Password, and a dynamic password, the dynamic password generates on connection so you have to read it out ... sounds very suspicious when you're giving your 24/7 access password out, that's just downright silly.

Now i know you have half a brain Reborn so why wouldn't you do that?

I can understand Zunnie or Oxi using your PC, Server box and APB Code and all that, but TT Staff? again, you're smart, and i'm sure it's been noted in the thread already you have a FTP server running on your pc (Correct me if i'm wrong of course) i would assume you would use that to distribute files...
