Second I don't appreciate personal grudges and fights on this forum reflecting negatively on RenCorner. We have been working hard to make a renegade community people enjoy and have fun at.

Dude, you just got there, lmao wtf?

We should be working together not trying to have some competition over who can get more players. The most important thing is getting the new players to return.

Coming from the guy who did the opposite of that numerous times lol.

but there have been many things said that are completely immature and have no purpose except to hurt another person.

But you do it also. This thread is an exception lol.

Learn how to spell before you trash someone else.

You're not all up there with your grammar and spelling either. You just bitched at AircraftKiller for his grammar nazi ways and you're doing it also lol.

It's Renegade. You should know by now Trojan. They reflect their community in some shape or form no matter how you look at it.
