Which is dead, ironically. Go spam somewhere else.

Its a great project and just because you have nothing to do with it does not mean its crap. Your negativity brings the whole community down.

How about you go be negative somewhere else?

What are you doing right now? Being negative to counter someone else's supposed negativity.

I work on RenEvo when I am called to. I'm part of their team, you ignorant jackass. You had no clue about that, did you? I'm telling it how it is: The project has been dead for a while now. I don't care if you think it's negative... Sometimes the truth hurts.

Just remember to do research on things before you start pressing those keys with your pudgy little fingers.

oh really? So, besides telling everyone in the forum that RenEvo is dead and a waste of time, what do you do for them? Boy, with friends like you who needs enemies.

I noticed your post is gone now. Good idea to get rid of the evidence. Haha p.s. What does the size of my fingers have to do with anything? You think by calling me names it makes your point more valid? Remember: Just because you say it, does not make it so.
