If this was a mod that this was about, than getting a team to create it is great, but just a single fucking map? That's the same thing as asking in a thread to get a team together to create a single model, or a single skin, or a cursor, it's fucking stupid. These things are supposed to be created by a single person, not having one person model the terrain, than someone else apply the texture, than someone else adding buildings, etc. that's like having someone model the turret, than someone model the treads, than someone model the body, etc. of a vehicle model.
