Subject: The Passion of the Christ
Posted by cheesesoda on Sun, 28 Mar 2004 21:40:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

im sorry that me reading the Bible makes me an idiot. ur an even bigger idiot than i thought, Bible thumping? how is my school bible thumping? we spread God's Word. I thought that's what my faith tells me to do.

OMG...i just read your post again...you're a MORON.

THE BIBLE says that only CHRIST can intercede for us. THE BIBLE IS INERRANT, WITHOUT ERROR. If you don't believe that, then you're not a true believer. WAKE UP AND RECOGNIZE THE TRUTH; it's smacking you in the face so hard that it's making you even more stupid. BTW...the Bible is God's Spoken Word, he's not going to let it get messed up in passing generations. He's not a careless God, he's perfect to the friggen T.

BTW...don't consider me a part of your religion. religion is full of rules and guidelines. What I believe in is my faith, I don't have to believe the same thing as everyone else does. Yes, i do have guidelines and rules to my faith, but it's not like there's a noose around my neck.

One more thing, along with Limbo, where the hell does the Bible say there is a Pergatory? JESUS DIED FOR OUR SINS, we dont' have to work them off, MORON. If we had to work them off, then there's no point in having God's grace and mercy if we can do it ourselves. You need to wake up and read the Bible and try to understand it or else you'll be just as one described in Revelation that will be in front of Jesus and says, "i did all those great things for you in your name." and he will say, "part from me, i never knew you."