We really dont need a thread asking who's better....

I have played alot of Fun maps for this game.....and in the long run the author doesnt really matter...it's if that map is still in rotation somewhere.

Me and ACK and alot of others DO put alot of work into mapping or modding for this game....no matter his or my or your opinion is, we do spend alot of time doing this.

I Spend almost all of my spare time mapping for Renegade...And when this dickhead says things like "your map suxxx" without even playing it on a server, It shows me how selfish he really is and could care less about everyone else who plays this game.

What alot of you dont know is...ACK was given alot of maps to him completely layed out...He touched up some of the Terrain,Applied textures and released it.

I appreciate him doing this for us and getting us new maps....but how dare he put down others for creating maps on there own and attempting to make a map from scratch, when he knows how much of a long process it is.

and if you look at his self made maps...there really isnt alot to them.

So, It's not about whos a better map maker,its more along the lines of which maps are being enjoyed the most out on the servers.
