Just a short little rant, because this has been happening to me more and more frequently and frankly it just pisses the hell outta me.

As if it weren't bad enough that people call the house when the person they're calling isn't there- and I end up picking up the phone- they have the nerve to put me on hold. Uhm...ok, YOU are calling ME. It is at MY inconvenience, and YOU chose to do it. Why should I have to wait for several minutes while YOU answer another call? I don't give a flying fuck how important the other caller is, or what you have to say to them, you were talking to me FIRST.

Look, people, if you call someone, will you please just take the fucking time to talk to them? They certainly don't want to sit there talking to your hold music while you're off doing something else. If you can't learn to take one call at a time, then don't use a fucking phone.

[/rant]

I think I'm just gonna start hanging up on these fucktards whenever I get put on hold...
